CATRIONA MORRISON

Pro Triathlete

Catriona Morrison is one of the most important female triathletes, backed by an impressive list of achievements, in which she dominated in 2010 and 2011; winning the Lanzarote Ironman, Texas Ironman, repeat wins at Ironman St Croix 70.3, and a bronze medal at the Abu Dhabi International Triathlon. All this, in spite of the fact that she had suffered with an Achilles heel issue for 3.5 years.

In 2012 she had surgery on her Achilles, ankles, and clavicle and spent the year recuperating. She is training and ready for the 2013 triathlon season.
