FERNANDO ALARZA

Pro Triathlete

Fernando Alarza entered the world of triathlon when he was 16, joining the local team, CD Tritalavera. Several years later he joined the Spanish National Triathlon Team to compete internationally. In 2010, he grabbed one of the most coveted titles: the Junior Triathlon World Championship Series. 2012 he dominated by winning the Garmin Barcelona Triathlon Championship, Spain Duathlon, Campeonato de España Triathlon and was the ITU U23 World Triathlon Grand Final Silver Medalist.

"Indoor Cycling is more stable than putting a bike on rollers for training. I recommend it 100% to people wanting to use one indoors as it's very similar to riding outdoors."
